

Privacy Policy

The Academic Journal of Business, Administration, Law and Social Sciences (AJBALS) is committed to safeguarding the privacy of its authors, reviewers, readers, and website visitors in accordance with applicable data protection laws and international standards, including the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

1. Data Collection and Use

AJBALS collects personal data only when voluntarily provided by individuals through activities such as:

- Manuscript submission;
- Participation in the peer-review process;
- Subscription to email updates, newsletters, or alerts;
- Registration for conferences, workshops, or events organized by AJBALS.

The personal data collected may include:

- Full name;
- Institutional affiliation;
- Email address;
- ORCID iD (where applicable).

This information is used solely for the following purposes:

- Editorial communication and management of the peer-review process;
- Notification of new journal issues, publications, and relevant updates;
- Internal editorial administration and statistical analysis.

2. Data Storage and Security

All personal information is stored securely and is accessible only to authorized editorial staff. AJBALS implements appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect personal data against unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration, loss, or destruction.

3. Consent and Withdrawal

By providing your personal information, you consent to its collection and use in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

You may withdraw your consent at any time by:

- Clicking the “unsubscribe” link included in our email communications; or
- Contacting the editorial office directly at: ajbalsjournal.austria@gmail.com

4. Data Sharing and Disclosure

AJBALS does not sell, rent, or disclose personal data to third parties for commercial purposes.

Personal information may be disclosed only in the following circumstances:

- When required by applicable law, legal process, or a competent regulatory authority;
- To law enforcement agencies for the prevention, investigation, or prosecution of criminal activities;
- To protect the rights, safety, property, or legitimate interests of AJBALS, its staff, authors, reviewers, readers, or users.

5. Your Rights

You have the right to:

- Access the personal data held by AJBALS about you;
- Request the correction of inaccurate or incomplete information;
- Request the deletion of personal data where permitted by law;
- Withdraw your consent and request data erasure, where applicable.

Copyright and Licensing Policy

The Academic Journal of Business, Administration, Law and Social Sciences (AJBALS) promotes open access to research and knowledge, ensuring that scholarly work is freely accessible and reusable under clear licensing terms.

Copyright

Authors retain the copyright to their published work.

Authors have the right to:

- Share the published article through personal, institutional, or disciplinary repositories;
- Use the article for educational, research, and other scholarly purposes, provided that appropriate citation to the original publication in AJBALS is included.

Open Access License

All articles published in AJBALS are made freely and immediately available under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution–NonCommercial 4.0 International License (CC BY-NC 4.0).

Under this license, users are permitted to:

- Copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format;
- Adapt, remix, transform, and build upon the material for non-commercial purposes;

provided that appropriate credit is given to the author(s) and the journal, a link to the license is provided, and any modifications are clearly indicated.

Commercial use of the published material is not permitted without prior permission from the copyright holder(s).